POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Out of great dreams, sometimes, come great accomplishment—and Justus Craemer, Orange county publisher and member of the State Railroad commission, has had a dream which may prove the salvation of our postwar rehabilitation period in California!

Because his duties as a member of the railroad commission bring him up against the problems of rapid transit in our great cities, as well as transcontinental transportation problems, Mr. Craemer has been thinking in terms of a program to straighten out traffic snarls and aid California veterans and war workers in finding employment during the transition era.

Possibly the fact that he has a boy in the service, who went through the Attu campaign and who is now waiting for Uncle Sam's next call to battle, has a bearing on Mr. Craemer's intense interest in providing jobs for returning service men. But whatever the reason, Mr. Craemer thinks that we can well kill two birds with one stone in tomorrow's world by providing adequate funds to unsnarl our metropolitan traffic jams and at the same time provide jobs for our returning soldiers and sailors.

California has a 3-cent gasoline tax. One cent of that big tax fund is allocated to the state; another cent to the counties—and the third cent to the cities. Briefly sated, Mr. Craemer's plan is that the state float a $100,000,000 bond issue—to be repaid, at $5,000,000 per year out of that gas tax fund, before any allocations are made—for the construction of fast and adequate city transportation systems in our great metropolitan areas.

Offhand hays Mr. Craemer, it would seem that by so doing the country districts would be making an outright gift to the cities, but such is not the case, he insists, because every trucker—and every autoist—in rural areas would have readier and quicker access to the state's great cities.

And just as California's cities aided in pulling rural areas out of the mud during the early years of highway financing by bond issues, it is now time for California's back-country to aid in pulling the state's cities out of a traffic jam which jeopardizes California development. That is Mr. Craemer's view—and mind you, he came from the back-country.

Thousands of returning soldiers and sailors would be given employment, at good wages, in this vast project. But the project, Mr. Craemer also emphasizes, would help to build a great California. And that, he says, is the main objective!

W. C. Bryants Receive Purple Heart for Son

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryant have received the medal of the Purple Heart which was awarded posthumously to their son Floyd Eugene Bryand, coxswain U. S. Navy for "military merit and for wounds received in action resulting in his death, Dec. 7, 1941," at Pearl Harbor.

The medal of the Purple Heart was established by General George Washington at Newburgh, New York, Aug. 7, 1782.

Another son, Robert, first class pilot in a navy patrol squadron was killed in an accident to the plane at Tongue Point, Ore., only three months later.

Mrs. Bryant has given the Campbell Press the privilege of displaying the medal in the window, with the accompanying certificate, where it may be seen within a day or so.

Lt. Warren Knopf To Pilot B-26 Marauder

Trained to razor-edge and having just received their silver wings from advanced flying schools, a class of student-officer pilots has arrived at Dodge City, Kansas, Army Air Field to receive postgraduate instruction in the operation of the lightning fast B-26 Marauders they will use in dealing aerial death and destruction to the enemies of freedom.

Included in this group is Lt. Warren K. Knopf, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Knopf of Route 1, Campbell. Lt Knopf won his wings and was commissioned a 2nd Lt. in the Air Corps at Moody Field, Ga., on June 30, 1943. His wife, Mrs. Sarah Nell Knopf also lives in Campbell.

This class marks the beginning of the 1943 output of Marauder combat pilots from Dodge City Army Air Field, "dedicated to providing the world's sharpest pilots for the world's fastest medium bomber."

DIAPER DILEMMA

A great wail has gone out over the nation. The voice of American mothers, joined by the lusty lungs of their infant offsprings, demand justice! Something must be done! The babies are rampant! There's a shortage of diapers!

Officials of the WPB, overwhelmed with letters from angry mothers, are speeding the wheels of industry to meet the lack of three-cornered rompers. "Ninety million of them will be produced this year," they say reassuringly. But Mrs. America replies, "I need a dozen right now."

Few probems of greater magnitude have been thrust upon the august members of the WPB. They hope, however, to have enough diapers available in the near future to prevent a real crisis in the nursery. Time marches on!

BOMBS FOR TOKYO

We who live here on the Pacific Coast, and who have more reason to remember Pearl Harbor, perhaps, than any other section of the country should buy bonds more willingly, and in greater number, knowing that they will soon be turned into bombs to blast Tokyo.

Commemorating the first anniversary of the United States Air Forces in China, Major General Claire L. Chenault told his cheering eagles:

"I sincerely hope that during the next year you men will fly over Japan itself many times . . . We are starting a new year. Things will be different before it ends."

Our Pacific offensive leaves little doubt that Japan's hour of reckoning is drawing constantly closer. We are not just conquering islands. We have no intention of taking Japan's island outposts, one by one. We are simply securing sea bases and flying bases for future operations, with Japan proper as the target. That is clearly apparent—and for that, American airmen and the American people are waiting.

AMELIA EARHART

This month marks the sixth year since a huge plane plummeted from the sky above the South Pacific. A woman's voice ringing with a note of desperation called for help. Then silence. Amelia Earhart, world's greatest woman flyer, plunged into an abyss of mystery that never was penetrated.

A recent movie hinted that she deliberately gave her life to provide the occasion for a search of the Japanese mandated islands by the United States Navy. Most likely, this theory has little behind it except the fertile imagination of a movie scenario writer. This outstanding woman flyer, however, contributed much to the advancement of aeronautical knowledge that now aids men who fight for freedom high above those same waters of the South Pacific.

Amelia Earhart had courage and daring, but she was not a "stunt" flyer. Hers was not, strictly speaking, "the early days" of aviation, yet she was a pioneer of the air. She explored the vast reaches of the sky. She was a woman with wings—winged with the fortitude and vision of a trail-blazer who thrilled at the challenge of the new worlds to be conquered in air travel.

Her work was not in vain. Wherever planes fly in the interest of progress and humanity, there flies the spirit of Amelia Earhart—a dauntless spirit that leads men on to wider fields and greater freedom.

HAPPY FUNERAL

Death, ordinarily, is a sad affair, but the death of the National Youth Administration, recently ordered by Congress, is the exception that proves the rule. The burial of NYA, with its multi-million-dollar overhead, will be a happy funeral—at least from the standpoint of the taxpayer.

An overgrown child of depression, which had refused to grow up and accept the responsibilities of adulthood, the NYA still continued to spend millions providing "opportunities" for youth when the Nation's youngsters had long since gone to war, or found jobs in war factories.

Somehow, we can't find it in our hearts to grieve about the passing of NYA. We only hope that it is the forerunner of other and bigger funerals for other depression-departments which are still doling out millions and billions in an era when time has passed them by.

STILL PLAYING POLITICS

What's wrong with Washington and the war?

Maybe an OPA high official summed it all up in one sentence when he said recently:

"Business must hold its nose and take its medicine."

There it is in a nutshell. The New Dealers in the midst of a bitter war still think the business of government is the fight on business. The author of this revealing statement hasn't found out that it isn't big business that is being hurt by OPA. It is the housewife; the fixed-salary, white-collar worker; the farmer; the retailer in competition with OPA's "black market" bootleggers; the little business man who is being bled white.

And the young legalists go on writing directives and hurling challenges at industry.

While industry goes on turning out the tanks and airplanes that give the New Dealers all they can point to with pride.

Funny world!

TOLERANCE PLEDGE

New York City's millions will be asked by Mayor La Guardia to pledge themselves against hatred and mob violence. This pledge, which he is requesting the people to sign, includes the promise not to "be moved to mob action against any fellow citizen or group of fellow citizens;" not to "listen to, nor repeat any rumors designed to divide us among ourselves;" and to "do what is in our power to forward mutual understanding and friendliness among all the various groups which make up our city and America."

While the "Little Flower" is to be commended on his good intentions, it is, nevertheless, a sad commentary on America that such a pledge should have occasion to be used. This "land of the free, and home of the brave," is neither free nor brave when its citizens fight among themselves on the basis of race or color.

Mutual respect between majority and minority groups must be adhered to. What we need is not more tolerance, but less—less tolerance of the hatred and hysteria that ride with the mob. Loyal Americans deplore mob violence, but they must do more than deplore it—they must prevent it.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"Experiment Perilous" by Margaret Carpenter.

Dr. Huntingdon Bailey, from a simple act of thoughtfulness, started a string of events that led him through storms and fire before he successfully came to the end. It is one of those books that keeps you awake whether you wish to or not. At a rapid pace the story goes, and from each event to the next it is so exciting that your interest is never quiet.

Yes, there is a good deal of mystery intertwined though I would not class this book as a mystery story. There is adventure and characterizations simply and forcefully depicted.

It was on Dr. Bailey's trip back to his office from his vacation that he met "Cissy" Bederaux, frail and child-like. Under the gay chatter of the little spinster he soon detects a tone of terror and near-hysteria whenever she mentions her brother Nicholas and his young wife Allida, "who will be so surprised to see me." His interest and compassion aroused, Dr. Bailey recommends his own hotel and even goes so far as to take some of her baggage with him.

His generosity costs him dearly. He meets the lovely and "so sweet, so sweet" Allida of the haunted eyes and her sophisticated husband, Nicholas. In the stately rooms of the Bederaux mansion he becomes conscious, vaguely and with disbelief at first, of same indefinable terror he first glimpsed in the eyes of the little spinster on the plane. In the dark reaches of the old halls is distilled a subtle poison as elusive and implacable as it is deadly. And as Dr. Bailey, in spite of himself and common sense, becomes more and more involved in the tortured life of the old mansion, the reader is swept along until the violence of the denouement of the black fog of doubt is at last dissolved.

This is the author's first novel, setting a pace and establishing a very high mark for others from the same pen.

Grates Require Attention

The importance of careful firing to prolong the life of grates is emphasized. The first and most important point in the care of grates is the frequent removal of the ashes in the ash pit. The ash pit is a storage chamber for air, not ashes. Air is necessary for the combustion of any fuel. Unless there is sufficient air below the grate bars to cool them, they will burn or warp. Failure to remove the ashes as often as necessary causes a wasteful fire as well as warped or burned grates. Another important point in the care of grates is to prevent the formation of clinkers which are likely to lodge in the grates.

Galbraith Is Featured Star At Ice Follies

One of the great figure skaters of the nation and a scintillating star of the gleaming blades is a San Franciscan, Murray Galbraith, who is nightly delighting thousands as a featured star of the Ice Follies of 1943 now showing for a limited engagement at Winterland in San Francisco.

Murray was born in Winnipeg the son of a famous hockey player, Bill Galbraith. The family moved to San Francisco when Murray was a tot. Although born in a clime of snow and natural ice, oddly enough Murray learned to skate on the indoor rinks of San Francisco and skyrocketed to national prominence as a star of the Ice Follies within the past three years.

Prior to joining the Ice Follies, Murray was a competitor in amateur skating ranks, where he won the novice, junior and senior Pacific Coast championships.

Great experts of figure being in a class alone because he performs his self-created skating credit Murray with interpretations of "precision routines" with an abandon akin to the great cale dancers of the ballet. Hundreds of hours of rehearsals form the background of his dazzling art.

Murray is the brother of Ensign Sheldon Galbraith, U. S. N., with whom he teamed in the Ice Follies for several seasons.

The first daytime performance of the Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies of 1943 will be held at Winterland on Sunday, July 18 at 2 p. m. The matinee day has been changed from previous years in order to conform with new schedules of persons employed in war work.

Anderson Stays On Job During Congress Recess

Despite the Congressional recess now in effect, Congressman Jack Anderson, this district's representative in Washington, is staying in the capital handling problems of marked importance to the people of his district and other parts of California. Congressman Anderson does not plan to return home until later in the summer.

Among the important things keeping the Congressman in Washington is the food situation, the securing of farm machinery and other important issues. Anderson does not feel he should leave the capitol until these problems have been ironed out.

Anderson informed Glenn Baker, his local representative that the Secretary of the Navy has approved an expenditure of $83,800.00 for improvements at Moffett Field, which include the construction of a control tower, a post office and barracks for a detachment of Waves, who will be stationed at the field.

Anderson declared that during his visit here in April as a member of the naval investigating committee, he secured much valuable information which aided him in the solution of many problems concerning the war effort.

Anderson said that when he does return to this district he plans to spend the month of August in an extensive tour of the four counties he represents; San Mateo, Santa Clara, San Benito and Santa Cruz.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

THAT NIGHT A MIRACLE HAPPENED

EXCERPT from a letter from Africa . . .

"It is night in a field dressing station. They bring in a soldier who's gone into shock. He looks like he is dead. And they start plasma flowing into him and back he comes. I tell you there are a lot of fellows coming back from Africa who wouldn't have returned if plasma wasn't on hand. That plasma is miraculous."

NOT ONCE but many times by the hundreds, before the tired eyes of doctors and nurses, blood plasma has performed its miracles in battle zones on land and sea.

Look at the record. In this most merciless war of all time, modern medicine has cut the death rate of wounded men from the 1918 figure of 7% to less than 1% today.

Beyond price. In this most expensive war of all times, the most priceless medicament is plasma—dried blood. Its sole supply is from voluntary blood donors.

The need is great. Northern California quota is 5000 Blood donors a week for the Red Cross Procurement Centers in San Francisco and Oakland.

What to do. Arrange for an individual blood donation at your nearest Red Cross Chapter or come as a group, as many clubs, churches, labor unions and fraternal organizations have done.

Why you MUST come to San Francisco or Oakland! Blood procurement centers must be located near dried blood laboratories. There are only nine such laboratories in the United States. California has two of these—one in Berkeley—one in Los Angeles.

Cut out and mail in the coupon appearing below. You will get a prompt reply. If you live some distance away from the Bay area, you can use the coupon, make arrangements through your local Red Cross, or phone for an appointment. Northern California must not fail in its weekly quota of 5000 Blood Donors.
